

Executive Coaching Model

Understanding our hardwired brain using some simple models + Learning about your natural Strengths + Assessing your personal and professional environment, will enable us to develop an action-oriented and executable Development Plan, with milestones, measures and follow up.